

William Jennings Bryan said:
"When we have restored the money of the constitution, all other necessary reforms will be possible, but until this is done, there is no other reform that can be accomplished."

On December 24th, 1913, when most legislators had gone home, "We the People's" servant elected leaders, without authority, legislated our money system to a private bank:

The Federal Reserve.

This legislation must now be modified before the results of the system self-destructs, taking us all along with it.

"I see in the near future a crisis approaching that unnerves me and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country. As a result of the war, corporations have been enthroned and an era of corruption in high places will follow, and the money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people until all wealth is aggregated in a few hands and the Republic is destroyed."
